The Westminster Confession of Faith, A.D. 1647

[The English text is taken from the second edition which appeared under the title, 'The Humble Advice of the Assembly of Divines, now by Authority of Parliament sitting at Westminster, concerning a Confession of Faith: with the Quotations and Texts of Scripture annexed. Presented by them lately to both Houses of Parliament. Printed at London; and reprinted at Edinburgh by Evan Tyler, Printer to the Kings most Excellent Majestie. 1647.' The spelling and punctuation are conformed to modern usage.

The changes of the American revision, which occur chiefly in Ch. XXIII., relating to the Civil Magistrate, and in Ch. XXXI., relating to Synods and Councils, are inserted in their proper places, and marked by italics. Minor changes are indicated in footnotes.

The Latin translation of the Westminster Confession and Catechisms by G. D. (see Preface) appeared first at Cambridge, 1656 (also 1659); at Edinburgh, 1694, etc.; and at Glasgow, 1660), under the title, '*CONFESSIO FIDEI in Conventu theologorum autoritate Parliamenti Anglicani indicto Elaborata; eidem Parlamento postmodum Exhibita; Quin et ab eodem, deindeque ab Ecclesia Scoticana Cognita et Approbata; und cum CATECHISMO duplici, MAJORI, MINORIQUE; E Sermone Anglicano summa cum fide in Litinum versa. Chapter I. Of the Holy Scripture

I. Although the light of nature, and the works of creation and providence, do so far manifest the goodness, wisdom, and power of God, as to leave men inexcusable;¹ yet are they not sufficient to give that knowledge of God, and of his will, which is necessary unto salvation;² therefore it pleased the Lord, at sundry times, and in divers manners, to reveal himself, and to declare that his will unto his Church;³ and afterwards, for the better preserving and propagating of the truth, and for the more sure establishment and comfort of the Church against the corruption of the flesh, and the malice

I. Quamquam naturæ lumen, operaque Dei cum Creationis tum Providentiæ, bonitatem ejus, sapientiam, potentiamque eo usque manifestant, ut homines vel inde reddantur inexcusabiles:⁴ eam tamen Dei, voluntatisque divinæ cognitionem, quæ porro est ad salutem necessaria, nequeunt nobis ingenerare.⁵ Quocirca Domino complacitum est, variis quidem modis vicibusque Ecclesiæ suæ semetipsum revelare, suamque hanc voluntatem patefacere;⁶ sed et eandem omnem postea literis consignare, quo et veritati suæ tam conservandæ quam propagandæ melius consuleret, nec Ecclesia sua contra carnis corruptelam, contra malitiam mundi

of Satan and of the world, to commit the same wholly unto writing;⁷ which maketh the holy Scripture to be most necessary;⁸ those former ways of God's revealing his will unto his people being now ceased.⁹

All which are given by inspiration of God, to be the rule of faith and life.¹⁴

*Qui omnes divina inspiratione dati sunt in Fidei vitæque regulam.*¹⁵

III. The books commonly called Apocrypha, not being of divine inspiration, are no part of the Canon of the Scripture; and therefore are of no authority in the Church of God, nor to be any otherwise approved, or made use of, than other human writings.¹⁶

III. *Libri Apocryphi, vulgo dicti, quum non fuerint divinitus inspirati, Canonem Scripturæ nullatenus constituunt; proindeque nullam aliam auctoritatem obtinere debent in Ecclesia Dei, nec aliter quam alia humana scripta, sunt aut approbandi aut adhibendi.*¹⁷

IV. The authority of the holy Scripture, for which it ought to be believed and obeyed, dependeth not upon the testimony of any man or church, but wholly upon God (who is truth itself), the Author thereof; and therefore it is to be received, because it is the Word of God.¹⁸

IV. *Autoritas Scripturæ sacræ propter quam ei debetur fides et observantia, non ab ullius aut hominis aut Ecclesiæ pendet testimonio, sed a solo ejus authore Deo, qui est ipsa veritas: eoque est a nobis recipienda, quoniam est Verbum Dei.*¹⁹

Church to an high and reverent esteem of²⁰ the holy Scripture;²¹ and the heavenliness of the matter, the efficacy of the doctrine, the majesty of the style, the consent of all the parts, the scope of the whole (which is to give all glory to God), the full discovery it makes of the only way of man's salvation, the many other incomparable excellencies, and the entire perfection thereof, are arguments whereby it doth abundantly evidence itself to be the Word of God; yet, notwithstanding, our full persuasion and assurance of the infallible truth, and divine authority thereof, is from the inward work of the Holy Spirit, bearing witness by and with the Word in our hearts.²²

VI. The whole counsel of God, concerning all things necessary for his own glory, man's salvation, faith, and life, is either expressly set down in Scripture, or by good and necessary consequence may be deduced from Scripture: unto which nothing at any time is to be added, whether by new revelations of the Spirit, or traditions of men.²⁵ Nevertheless we acknowledge the inward illumination of the Spirit of God to be necessary for the saving

Consilium Dei universum de omnibus quæ ad suam ipsius gloriam, quæque ad hominum salutem, fidem, vitamque sunt necessaria, aut expresse in Scriptura continentur, aut consequentia bona et necessaria derivari potest a Scriptura; cui nihil deinceps addendum est, seu novis a spiritu revelationibus, sive traditionibus hominum.*²⁶ Internam nihilominus illuminationem Spiritus Dei ad salutarem eorum perceptionem, quæ in Verbo Dei

VII. All things in Scripture are not alike plain in themselves, nor alike clear unto all;³¹ yet those things which are necessary to be known, believed, and observed, for salvation, are so clearly propounded and opened in some place of Scripture or other, that not only the learned, but the unlearned, in a due use of the ordinary means, may attain unto a sufficient understanding of them.³²

Chapter IV. Of Creation

I. It pleased God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,¹⁷⁵ for the manifestation of the glory of his eternal power, wisdom, and goodness,¹⁷⁶ in the beginning, to create or make of nothing the world, and all things therein, whether visible or invisible, in the space of six days, and all very good.¹⁷⁷

I. *Deo, Patri, Filio et Spiritui sancto, complacitum est,*¹⁷⁸ *quo æternæ suæ cum potentiæ tum sapientiæ bonitatisque gloriam manifestaret,*¹⁷⁹ *mundum hunc, et quæ in eo continentur universa tam visibilla quam invisibilla, in principio intra sex dierum spatium creare, seu ex nihilo condere, atque omnia quidem bona valde.*¹⁸⁰

II. After God had made all other creatures, he created man, male and female,¹⁸¹ with reasonable and immortal souls,¹⁸² endued with knowledge, righteousness, and true holiness, after his own image,¹⁸³ having the law of God written in their hearts,¹⁸⁴ and power to fulfill it;¹⁸⁵ and yet under a possibility of transgressing, being left to the liberty of their own will, which was subject unto change.¹⁸⁶ Beside this law written in their hearts, they received a command not to eat of the tree of the knowledge of good

II. *Postquam omnes alias creaturas condidisset Deus, creavit hominem marem et foeminam,*¹⁸⁷ *animabus inditis rationalibus ac immortalibus,*¹⁸⁸ *imbutos cognitione, justitia, veraque sanctitate, ad suam ipsius imaginem,*¹⁸⁹ *habentes in cordibus suis inscriptam Divinam legem,*¹⁹⁰ *simul et eandem implendi vires;*¹⁹¹ *non tamen sine quadam violandi possibilitate; libertati siquidem permissi erant voluntatis suæ haud immutabilis.*¹⁹² Præter autem hanc in cordibus eorum inscriptam legem de non comedendo ex arbore scientiæ boni malique

Chapter V. Of Providence

God, the great Creator of all things, doth uphold,¹⁹⁷ direct, dispose, and govern all creatures, actions, and things,¹⁹⁸ from the greatest even to the least,¹⁹⁹ by his most wise and holy providence,²⁰⁰ according to his infallible foreknowledge²⁰¹ and the free and immutable counsel of his own will,²⁰² to the praise of the glory of his wisdom, power, justice, goodness, and mercy.²⁰³

I. *Magnus ille rerum omnium creator Deus sapientissima sua et sanctissima simul providentia*²⁰⁴ *creaturas, actiones, resque*²⁰⁵ *a maximis usque ad minimas*²⁰⁶ *universas sustentat,*²⁰⁷ *dirigit, ordinat, gubernatque secundum infallibilem suam præscientiam,*²⁰⁸ *et voluntatis suæ consilium liberum ac immutabile,*²⁰⁹ *ad laudem gloriæ sapientiæ suæ, potentiæ, justitiæ, bonitatis, ac misericordiæ.*²¹⁰

II. Although in relation to the foreknowledge and decree of God, the first cause, all things come to pass immutably and infallibly,²¹¹ yet by the same providence he ordereth them to fall out, according to the nature of second causes, either necessarily, freely, or contingently.²¹²

II. *Quamvis respectu præscientiæ ac decreti Dei (causæ primæ) omnia immutabiliter atque infallibiliter eveniant,*²¹³ *per eandem tamen ille providentiam eadem ordinat evenire necessario, libere, aut contingenter, pro natura causarum secundarum.*²¹⁴

III. God, in his ordinary providence, maketh use of means,²¹⁵ yet is free to work without,²¹⁶

III. *Deus in providentia sua ordinaria mediis utitur,*²¹⁷ *iis tamen non astringitur, quo minus absque eis,*²¹⁸

*supra*²²¹ *aut etiam contra ea pro arbitrio suo operetur.*²²²

IV. The almighty power, unsearchable wisdom, and infinite goodness of God so far manifest themselves in his providence that it extendeth itself even to the first fall, and all other sins of angels and men,²²³ and that not by a bare permission,²²⁴ but such as hath joined with it a most wise and powerful bounding,²²⁵ and otherwise ordering and governing of them, in a manifold dispensation, to his own holy ends;²²⁶ yet so as the sinfulness thereof proceedeth only from the creature, and not from God; who, being most holy and righteous, neither is nor can be the author or approver of sin.²²⁷

IV. *Omnipotentem Dei potentiam, sapientiam inscrutabilem, bonitatemque infinitam providentia ejus eo usque manifestat, ut vel ad primum lapsum, omniaque reliqua peccata, seu hominum sint sive angelorum, se extendat;*²²⁸ *neque id quidem permissione nuda,*²²⁹ *verum cui conjuncta est sapientissima potentissimaque eorum limitatio,*²³⁰ *ac aliusmodi ad sanctos sibi propositos fines dispensatione multiplici ordinatio et gubernatio;*²³¹ *ita tamen ut omnis eorum vitiositas a sola proveniat creatura, a Deo neutiquam, qui sanctissimus quum sit justissimusque neque est, nec esse quidem potest peccati autor aut approbator.*²³²

V. The most wise, righteous, and gracious God doth oftentimes leave for a season his own children to manifold temptations and the corruption of their own hearts, to chastise them for their former sins, or to discover unto them the hidden strength of corruption and deceitfulness of their hearts, that they may be humbled;²³³ and to raise them to a more close and constant

V. *Sapientissimus, justissimus, et gratiosissimus idem Deus, sæpenumero filios suos tentationibus multifariis, suorumque cordium corruptioni ad tempus permittit; quo ob admissa prius peccata castiget eos, vel corruptionis iis detegat vim occultam, cordiumque suorum fraudulentiam ut humilientur;*²³⁴ quoque eos excitet ad strictam magis et constantem a seipso proferendis suppetiis

VI. As for those wicked and ungodly men whom God, as a righteous judge, for former sins, doth blind and harden,²³⁸ from them he not only withholdeth his grace, whereby they might have been enlightened in their understandings and wrought upon in their hearts,²³⁹ but sometimes also withdraweth the gifts which they had,²⁴⁰ and exposeth them to such objects as their corruption

VI. *Quod scelestos illos spectat impiosque homines, quos Deus, ut justus judex, ob peccata præcedentia excæcat induraturque;*²⁴⁴ *eis ille non solum gratiam suam non impertit, qua ipsis cum illuminari intellectus, tum affici corda potuissent;*²⁴⁵ *sed interdum subtrahit eis quibus imbuti erant dona,*²⁴⁶ *et ipsos exponit illiusmodi objectis, unde corruptio eorum arripit sibi peccandi occasiones;*²⁴⁷ *simulque tradit eos suis ipsorum concupiscentiis et tentationibus mundi, et potestati Satanæ;*²⁴⁸ *ex quo fit ut seipsos ipsi indurent, et quidem sub iisdem mediis quibus utitur Deus ad alios emolliendos.*²⁴⁹

Chapter VI. Of the Fall of Man, of Sin, and of the Punishment thereof

I. Our first parents, being seduced by the subtilty and temptation of Satan, sinned in eating the forbidden fruit.²⁵² This their sin God was pleased, according to his wise and holy counsel, to permit, having purposed to order it to his own glory.²⁵³

I. *Primi parentes, Satanæ subtilitate ac tentatione seducti, fructus vetiti esu peccaverunt.*²⁵⁴ *Hoc eorum peccatum secundum sapiens suum sanctumque consilium Deo placuit permittere, non sine proposito illud ad suam ipsius gloriam ordinandi.*²⁵⁵

II. By this sin they fell from their original righteousness and communion with God,²⁵⁶ and so became dead in sin,²⁵⁷ and wholly defiled in all the faculties and parts of soul and body.²⁵⁸

II. *Hoc illi peccato, justitia sua originali et communione cum Deo exciderunt;*²⁵⁹ *itaque facti sunt in peccato mortui,*²⁶⁰ *atque in omnibus facultatibus ac partibus animæ corporisque penitus contaminati.*²⁶¹

III. They being the root of all mankind,²⁶² the guilt of this sin was imputed, and the same death

Chapter VII. Of God's Covenant with Man

I. The distance between God and the creature is so great that although reasonable creatures do owe obedience unto him as their Creator, yet they could never have any fruition of him as their blessedness and reward but by some voluntary condescension on God's part, which he hath been pleased to express by way of covenant.²⁹²

*I. Tanta est inter deum et creaturam distantia, ut licet creaturæ rationales obedientiam illi ut creatori suo debeant, nullam tamen fruitionem ejus tanquam suæ beatitudinis ac præmii habere unquam potuissent, ni voluntaria fuisset aliqua ex parte Dei condescensio; quam ipsi exprimere placuit icto fœdere.*²⁹³

II. The first covenant made with

II. Primum fœdus cum hominibus man was a covenant of works,²⁹⁴ wherein life was promised to Adam, and in him to his posterity,²⁹⁵ upon condition of perfect and personal obedience.²⁹⁶

*initum erat fœdus operum,*²⁹⁷ *quo vita Adamo promissa erat, ejusque in eo posteris,*²⁹⁸ *sub conditione obedientiæ perfectæ ac personalis.*²⁹⁹

III. Man by his fall having made himself incapable of life by that covenant, the Lord was pleased to make a second,³⁰⁰ commonly called the covenant of grace: wherein he freely offered unto sinners life and salvation by Jesus Christ, requiring of them faith in him that they may be saved,³⁰¹ and promising to give unto all those that are ordained unto life his Holy Spirit, to make them willing and able to believe.³⁰²

*III. Quum autem homo lapsu suo omnem sibi præstruxisset ad vitam aditum per illud fœdus, complacuit Domino secundum inire,*³⁰³ *quod vulgo dicimus Fœdus Gratiae; in quo peccatoribus offert gratuito vitam ac salutem per Jesum Christum, fidem in illum ab iis requirens ut salventur;*³⁰⁴ *promittensque omnibus qui ad vitam ordinantur se spiritum suum sanctum daturum, qui in illis operetur credendi cum voluntatem tum potentiam.*³⁰⁵

IV. This covenant of grace is frequently set forth in the Scripture by the name of a testament, in reference to the death of Jesus Christ the testator, and to the everlasting inheritance, with all things belonging to it, therein bequeathed.³⁰⁶

V. This covenant was differently administered in the time of the law and in the time of the gospel:³⁰⁸ under the law it was administered by promises, prophecies,

*V. Hoc fœdus sub Lege atque sub Evangelio administratum est modo alio atque alio.*³⁰⁹ Sub Lege quidem per promissiones, prophetias et sacrificia, per circumcisionem, agnum sacrifices, circumcision, the paschal lamb, and other types and ordinances delivered to the people of the Jews, all fore-signifying Christ to come,³¹⁰ which were for that time sufficient and efficacious, through the operation of the Spirit, to instruct and build up the elect in faith in the promised Messiah,³¹¹ by whom they had full remission of sins and eternal salvation; and is called the Old Testament.³¹²

VI. Under the gospel, when Christ the substance³¹⁶ was exhibited, the ordinances in which this covenant is dispensed are the preaching of the word and the administration of the sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper;³¹⁷ which, though fewer in number, and administered with more simplicity and less outward glory, yet in them it is held forth in more fullness, evidence, and spiritual efficacy,³¹⁸ to all nations, both Jews and Gentiles;³¹⁹ and is called the New Testament.³²⁰ There are not, therefore, two covenants of grace differing in substance, but one and the same under various dispensations.³²¹

VI. *Sub evangelio autem, exhibito jam Christo, substantia*³²² *scilicet ac antitypo, præscriptæ rationes in quibus hoc fœdus dispensatur, sunt prædicatio verbi, et administratio sacramentorum, baptismi nempe ac cœnæ Dominicæ;*³²³ *in quibus quidem utut numero paucioribus, iisque simplicius ac minore cum externa gloria administratis, cum majore tamen plenitudine, evidentiali, et efficacia spirituali*³²⁴ *populis cunctis tam Judæis quam Gentibus*³²⁵ *exhibetur; Diciturque Novum Testamentum.*³²⁶ Non sunt ergo duo fœdera

Chapter VIII. Of Christ the Mediator

I. It pleased God, in his eternal purpose, to choose and ordain the Lord Jesus, his only-begotten Son, to be the Mediator between God and man,³²⁸ the Prophet,³²⁹ Priest,³³⁰ and King;³³¹ the Head and Saviour of his Church,³³² the Heir of all things,³³³ and Judge of the world;³³⁴ whom he did, from all eternity, give a people to be his seed,³³⁵ and to be by him in time redeemed, called, justified, sanctified, and glorified.³³⁶

*I. Complacitum est Deo Filium ejus unigenitum Dominum Jesum in æterno suo proposito eligere atque ordinare ut Mediator esset inter Deum et hominem,³³⁷ Propheta,³³⁸ Sacerdos,³³⁹ et Rex,³⁴⁰ caput idem et salvator Ecclesiæ suæ;³⁴¹ rerum omnium hæres,³⁴² Mundique Judex;³⁴³ cui ab æterno populum dedit futurum illi in semen,³⁴⁴ ac per illum stato tempore redimendum, vocandum, justificandum, sanctificandum ac glorificandum.*³⁴⁵

II. The Son of God, the second person in the Trinity, being very and eternal God, of one substance, and equal with the Father did, when the fullness of time was come, take upon him man's nature,³⁴⁶ with all the essential properties and common infirmities thereof, yet without sin;³⁴⁷ being conceived by the power of the Holy Ghost in the womb of the Virgin Mary, of her substance.³⁴⁸ So that two whole, perfect, and distinct natures, the Godhead and the manhood, were inseparably joined together

II. Filius Dei persona secunda in Trinitate, verus nempe idem æternusque Deus, substantiæ cum Patre unius ejusdemque, eique coæqualis, cum advenerat temporis plenitudo, assumpsit naturam humanam,³⁴⁹ una cum omnibus ejus proprietatibus essentialibus, communibusque infirmitatibus, immunem tamen a peccato,³⁵⁰ conceptus scilicet in utero eque substantia Mariæ Virginis,³⁵¹ virtute Spiritus Sancti. The Lord Jesus, in his human nature thus united to the divine, was sanctified and anointed with the Holy Spirit above measure;³⁵⁶ having in him all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge,³⁵⁷ in whom it pleased the Father that all fullness should dwell;³⁵⁸ to the end that, being holy, harmless, undefiled, and full of grace and truth,³⁵⁹ he might be thoroughly furnished to execute the office of a mediator and surety.³⁶⁰ Which office he took not unto himself, but was thereunto called by his Father,³⁶¹ who put all power and judgment into his hand, and gave him commandment to execute the same.³⁶²

VII. Christ, in the work of mediation, acteth according to both natures; by each nature doing that which is proper to itself,⁴⁰⁰ yet, by reason of the unity of the person, that which is proper to one nature is sometimes, in Scripture, attributed to the person denominated by the other nature.⁴⁰¹

Chapter IX. Of Free-will

I. God hath endued the will of man with that natural liberty, that ⁴¹⁴is neither forced nor by any absolute necessity of nature determined to good or evil.⁴¹⁵

Chapter XI. Of Justification

I. Those whom God effectually calleth he also freely justifieth;⁴⁷⁵ not by infusing righteousness into them, but by pardoning their sins, and by accounting and accepting their persons as righteous: not for any thing wrought in them, or done by them, but for Christ's sake alone; nor⁴⁷⁶ by imputing faith itself, the act of believing, or any other evangelical obedience to them, as their righteousness; but by imputing the obedience and satisfaction of Christ unto them,⁴⁷⁷ they receiving and resting on him and his righteousness by faith; which faith they have not of themselves, it is the gift of God.⁴⁷⁸

I. *Quos Deus vocat efficaciter, eosdem etiam gratis justificat,⁴⁷⁹ non quidem justitiam iis infundendo, sed eorum peccata condonando, personasque pro justis reputando atque acceptando; neque id certe propter quicquam aut in iis productum, aut ab iis præstitum, verum Christi solius ergo; eisque ad justitiam non fidem ipsam, non credendi actum, aut aliam quamcunque obedientiam evangelicam, verum obedientiam ac satisfactionem Christi imputando,⁴⁸⁰ eum nempe recipientibus, eique ac justitiæ ejus per fidem innitentibus; quam illi fidem ex dono Dei, non a seipsis, habent.*⁴⁸¹

II. Faith, thus receiving and resting on Christ and his righteousness, is the alone instrument of justification;⁴⁸² yet is it not alone in the person justified, but is ever accompanied with all other

III. Christ, by his obedience and death, did fully discharge the debt of all those that are thus justified, and did make a proper, real, and full satisfaction to his Father's justice in their behalf.⁴⁸⁶ Yet inasmuch as he was given by the Father for them,⁴⁸⁷ and his obedience and satisfaction accepted in their stead,⁴⁸⁸ and both freely, not for any thing in them, their justification is only of free grace;⁴⁸⁹ that both the exact justice and rich grace of God might be glorified in the justification of sinners.⁴⁹⁰

IV. God did, from all eternity, decree to justify all the elect,⁴⁹⁶ and Christ did, in the fullness of time, die for their sins, and rise again for their justification.⁴⁹⁷ nevertheless, they are not justified until the Holy Spirit doth, in due time, actually apply Christ unto them.⁴⁹⁸

IV. *Ab æterno decrevit Deus electos omnes justificare,*⁴⁹⁹ *Christusque in temporis plenitudine mortuus est pro eorum peccatis, et in justificationem eorum resurrexit;*⁵⁰⁰ *nihilominus tamen justificati prius non sunt, quam Christum eis in tempore suo opportuno Spiritus Sanctus actu applicuerit.*⁵⁰¹

V. God doth continue to forgive the sins of those that are justified;⁵⁰² and although they can never fall from the state of justification,⁵⁰³ yet they may by their sins fall under God's fatherly displeasure, and not have the light of his countenance restored unto them, until they humble themselves,

Chapter XIII. Of Sanctification

I. They who are effectually called and regenerated, having a new heart and a new spirit created in them, are further sanctified, really and personally, through the virtue of Christ's death and resurrection,⁵³⁹ by his Word and Spirit dwelling in them;⁵⁴⁰ the dominion of the whole body of sin is destroyed,⁵⁴¹ and the several lusts thereof are more and more weakened and mortified,⁵⁴² and they more and more quickened and strengthened, in all saving graces,⁵⁴³ to the practice of true holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord.⁵⁴⁴

I. Quotquot efficaciter vocantur, ac regenerantur, cor novum habentes novumque spiritum in se creatum, sunt virtute mortis et resurrectionis Christi⁵⁴⁵ per verbum ejus spiritumque in eis inhabitantem⁵⁴⁶ ulterius sandificati, realiter quidem ac personaliter: totius corporis peccati dominium in eos destruitur,⁵⁴⁷ ejusque varix libidines debilitantur indies magis magisque ac mortificantur;⁵⁴⁸ illi interim magis magisque in omni gratia salutari vivificantur et corroborantur indies,⁵⁴⁹ ad praxim veræ sanctimonix, qua quidem destitutus nemo unquam videbit Dominum.⁵⁵⁰

II. This sanctification is throughout in the whole man,⁵⁵¹ yet imperfect in this life; there abideth still some remnants of corruption in every part,⁵⁵² whence ariseth a continual and irreconcilable war, the flesh lusting against the spirit, and the spirit against the flesh.⁵⁵³

II. Universalis est hæc et per totum hominem diffusa sanctificatio,⁵⁵⁴ verum in hac vita est imperfecta nonnullis corruptionis reliquiis adhuc in omni parte remanentibus,⁵⁵⁵ unde bellum exoritur perpetuum et implacabile; hinc carne adversus spiritum, illinc spiritu adversus carnem concupiscente.⁵⁵⁶

Chapter XIV. Of Saving Faith

I. The grace of faith, whereby the elect are enabled to believe to the saving of their souls,⁵⁶⁵ is the work of the Spirit of Christ in their hearts,⁵⁶⁶ and is ordinarily wrought by the ministry of the Word;⁵⁶⁷ by which also, and by the administration of the sacraments and prayer, it is increased and strengthened.⁵⁶⁸

I. *Gratia Fidei, qua electi credere valent ad animarum suarum salutem,*⁵⁶⁹ *Spiritus Christi opus est in eorum cordibus operantis,*⁵⁷⁰ *effectum plerumque verbi Dei ministerio,*⁵⁷¹ *quo eodem etiam, ut et administratione Sacramentorum atque oratione robur ei accedit ac incrementum.*⁵⁷²

II. By this faith a Christian believeth to be true whatsoever is revealed in the Word, for the authority of God himself speaking therein;⁵⁷³ and acteth differently upon that which each particular passage thereof containeth; yielding obedience to the commands,⁵⁷⁴ trembling at the threatenings,⁵⁷⁵ and embracing the promises of God for this life and that which is to come.⁵⁷⁶ But the principal acts of saving faith are accepting, receiving, and resting upon Christ alone

II. *Hac Fide credit Christianus verum esse quicquid in verbo revelatur, propter auctoritatem ipsius inibi loquentis Dei;*⁵⁷⁷ *et varie quidem in illud agit tum obsequendo mandatis,*⁵⁷⁸ *tum ad minas contremiscens,*⁵⁷⁹ *tum etiam promissa Dei, seu præsentem hanc vitam seu futuram spectent, amplexando,*⁵⁸⁰ pro varia nempe

Chapter XV. Of Repentance unto Life

I. Repentance unto life is an evangelical grace,⁵⁹¹ the doctrine whereof is to be preached by every minister of the gospel, as well as that of faith in Christ.⁵⁹²

I. *Resipiscentia ad vitam est gratia Evangelica,*⁵⁹³ cuius quidem doctrina pariter ac illa de fide in Christum est a singulis ministris Evangelii prædicanda.

II. By it a sinner, out of the sight and sense, not only of the danger, but also of the filthiness and odiousness of his sins, as contrary to the holy nature and righteous law of God, and upon the apprehension of his mercy in Christ to such as are penitent, so grieves for and hates his sins as to turn from them all unto God,⁵⁹⁴ purposing and endeavoring

III. Although repentance be not to be rested in as any satisfaction for sin, or any cause of the pardon thereof,⁵⁹⁹ which is the act of God's free grace in Christ;⁶⁰⁰ yet is it of such necessity to all sinners that none may expect pardon without it.⁶⁰¹

III. *Etsi resipiscentiæ nobis fidendum non sit, ac si ea esset ulla aut pro peccatis satisfactio, aut causa remissionis peccatorum*⁶⁰² (qui gratiæ Dei in Christo gratuitæ actus est),⁶⁰³ *est nihilominus cunctis peccatoribus usque adeo necessaria, ut sine ea nulla cuivis unquam remissio sit expectanda.*⁶⁰⁴

IV. As there is no sin so small but it deserves damnation,⁶⁰⁵ so there is no sin so great that it can bring damnation upon those who truly repent.⁶⁰⁶

IV. *Quemadmodum nullum est peccatum adeo exiguum ut damnationem non mereatur,*⁶⁰⁷ *ita neque magnum adeo peccatum ullum est, ut damnationem inferre possit vere pœnitentibus.*⁶⁰⁸

V. Men ought not to content themselves with a general repentance, but it is every man's duty to endeavor to repent of his particular sins particularly.⁶⁰⁹

V. *In resipiscentia generali acquiescendum non est, verum ad id contendere tenetur quisque, ut singulorum suorum peccatorum quam particularem agat pœnitentiam.*⁶¹⁰

VI. As every man is bound to make private confession of his sins to God, praying for the pardon thereof,⁶¹¹ upon which, and the forsaking of them, he shall find mercy;⁶¹² so he that scandalizeth his brother, or the Church of Christ, ought to be willing, by a private or public confession and sorrow for his sin, to declare his repentance

Chapter XVI. Of Good Works

I. Good works are only such as God hath commanded in his holy Word,⁶¹⁹ and not such as, without the warrant thereof, are devised by men out of blind zeal, or upon any pretense of good intention.⁶²⁰

I. *Bona opera ea tantum sunt quæ in verbo suo sancto præcepit Deus;*⁶²¹ *minime autem ea quæ absque ulla illius auctoritate, sunt ab hominibus excogitata, sive e cæco zelo id factum fuerit, seu bonæ intentionis prætextu quoviscunque.*⁶²²

II. These good works, done in obedience to God's commandments, are the fruits and evidences of a true and lively faith;⁶²³ and by them believers manifest their thankfulness,⁶²⁴ strengthen their assurance,⁶²⁵ edify their brethren,⁶²⁶ adorn the profession of the gospel,⁶²⁷ stop the mouths of the adversaries,⁶²⁸ and glorify God,⁶²⁹ whose workmanship they are, created in Christ Jesus thereunto,⁶³⁰ that, having their fruit unto holiness, they may have the end, eternal life.⁶³¹

II. *Bona hæc opera e conscientia mandatorum Dei præstita vivæ veræque fidei fructus sunt ac evidentiæ;*⁶³² *per hæc fideles gratitudinem suam manifestant,*⁶³³ *de salute certitudinem suam augent,*⁶³⁴ *fratres suos ædificant,*⁶³⁵ *Evangelii professionem ornant,*⁶³⁶ *obturant ora adversantibus,*⁶³⁷ *ac Deum denique glorificant,*⁶³⁸ *cuius opificium sunt in Jesu Christo ad hæc creati,*⁶³⁹ *quo fructum habentes ad sanctimoniam, finem consequantur æternam vitam.*⁶⁴⁰ works is not at all of themselves, but wholly from the Spirit of Christ.⁶⁴¹ And that they may be enabled thereunto, besides the graces they have already received, there is required an actual influence of the same Holy Spirit to work in them to will and to do of his good pleasure;⁶⁴² yet are they not hereupon to grow negligent, as if they were not bound to perform any duty unless upon a special motion of the Spirit; but they ought to be diligent in stirring up the grace of God that is in

IV. They who in their obedience attain to the greatest height which is possible in this life, are so far from being able to supererogate and to do more than God requires, as⁶⁴⁷ that they fall short of much which in duty they are bound to do.⁶⁴⁸

IV. *Qui gradum obedientiæ summum quidem in hac vita possibilem assequuntur, tantum abest ut supererogare quicquam possint ac plus præstare quam quod Deus requisiverit, ut multum sane subsident infra illud, quod ex officio præstare obligantur.*⁶⁴⁹

V. We can not, by our best works, merit pardon of sin, or eternal life at the hand of God, by reason of the great disproportion that is between them and the glory to come, and the infinite distance that is between us and God, whom by them we can neither profit nor satisfy

V. Peccatorum veniam, aut vitam æternam de Deo mereri non valemus, ne optimis quidem operibus nostris; cum propter summam illam inter ea et futuram gloriam disparitatem; tum etiam propter infinitam distantiam quæ inter nos ac Deum intercedit; cui nos per illa nec prodesse

for the debt of our former sins;⁶⁵⁰ but when we have done all we can, we have done but our duty, and are unprofitable servants,⁶⁵¹ and because, as they are good, they proceed from his Spirit,⁶⁵² and as they are wrought by us, they are defiled and mixed with so much weakness and imperfection that they can not endure the severity of God's judgment.⁶⁵³

VI. Yet notwithstanding, the persons of believers being accepted through Christ, their good works also are accepted in him,⁶⁵⁸ not as though they were in this life wholly unblamable and unreprouvable in God's sight;⁶⁵⁹ but that he, looking upon them in his Son, is pleased to accept and

Chapter XVII. Of the Perseverance of the Saints

I. They whom God hath accepted in his Beloved, effectually called and sanctified by his Spirit, can neither totally nor finally fall away from the state of grace; but shall certainly persevere therein to the end, and be eternally saved.⁶⁷⁶

I. *Quotquot Deus in dilecto suo accepit, vocavit efficaciter ac per Spiritum suum sanctificavit, non possunt illi statu gratiæ aut finaliter excidere aut totaliter; verum in eo ad finem usque certo perseverabunt, ac salutem æternam consequentur.*⁶⁷⁷

II. This perseverance of the saints depends, not upon their own freewill, but upon the immutability of the decree of election, flowing from the free and unchangeable love of God the Father;⁶⁷⁸ upon the efficacy of the merit and intercession of Jesus Christ;⁶⁷⁹ the abiding

Chapter XVIII. Of the Assurance of Grace and Salvation

I. Although hypocrites and other unregenerate men may vainly deceive themselves with false hopes and carnal presumptions of being in the favor of God and estate of salvation,⁷⁰⁶ which hope of theirs

I. Quamvis fieri potest ut hypocritæ aliique homines non regeniti spe vana falsisque (pro corruptæ naturæ more) opinionibus præsumptis, se decipiant, favorem Dei, statumque salutis sibi falso arrogantes;⁷⁰⁷ quæ illorum shall perish:⁷⁰⁸ yet such as truly believe in the Lord Jesus, and love him in sincerity, endeavoring to walk in all good conscience before him, may in this life be certainly assured that they are in a state of grace,⁷⁰⁹ and may rejoice in the hope of the glory of God, which hope shall never make them ashamed.⁷¹⁰

spes peribit:⁷¹¹ qui tamen in Dominum Jesum vere credunt, eumque sincere diligunt, studentes coram ipso in omni bona conscientia ambulare; evadere possunt in hac vita certi se in statu gratiæ esse constitutos;⁷¹² quin etiam lætari possunt spe gloriæ Dei, quæ quidem spes nunquam eos pudefaciet.⁷¹³

II. This certainty is not a bare conjectural and probable persuasion, grounded upon a fallible hope,⁷¹⁴ but an infallible assurance of faith, founded upon the divine truth of the promises of salvation,⁷¹⁵ the inward evidence of those graces unto which these promises are made,⁷¹⁶ the testimony of the Spirit of adoption witnessing with our spirits that we are the children of God:⁷¹⁷ which Spirit is the earnest of our inheritance, whereby we are sealed to the day of redemption.⁷¹⁸

Hæc certitudo non est persuasio mere conjecturalis et probabilis, innixa spe fallaci;⁷¹⁹ verum infallibilis quædam fidei certitudo, fundamentum habens divinam promissionum salutis veritatem;⁷²⁰ gratiarum, quibus promissiones illæ fiunt internam evidentiam;⁷²¹ testimonium denique spiritus adoptionis una cum spiritibus nostris testificantis nos esse filios Dei;⁷²² qui quidem spiritus arrhabetur est hæreditatis nostræ, quo in diem redemptionis sigillamur.⁷²³

III. This infallible assurance doth not so belong to the essence of faith, but that a true believer may wait long, and conflict with many difficulties before he be partaker of it:⁷²⁴ yet, being enabled by the Spirit to know the things which are freely given him of God, he

IV. True believers may have the assurance of their salvation divers ways shaken, diminished, and intermitted; as, by negligence in preserving of it; by falling into some special sin, which woundeth, the conscience, and grieveth the Spirit; by some sudden or vehement temptation; by God's withdrawing the light of his countenance, and suffering even such as fear him to walk in darkness and to have no light:⁷³⁴ yet are they never utterly destitute of that seed of God, and life of faith, that love of Christ and the brethren, that sincerity of heart and conscience of duty, out

Chapter XIX. Of the Law of God

I. God gave to Adam a law, as a covenant of works, by which he bound him and all his posterity to personal, entire, exact, and perpetual obedience; promised life upon the fulfilling, and threatened death upon the breach of it; and endued him with power and ability to keep it.⁷⁴⁰

I. *Deus Adamo legem dedit ut fœdus operum, quo cum illum ipsum tum posteros ejus omnes, ad obedientiam personalem, integram, exquisitam simul et perpetuam obligavit, pollicitus vitam si observarent, violatoribus autem mortem interminatus; eundemque potentia et viribus imbuisset, quibus par esset illam observando.*⁷⁴¹

II. This law, after his fall, continued to be a perfect rule of righteousness; and, as such, was delivered by God upon mount Sinai in ten commandments, and written in two tables;⁷⁴² the first four commandments containing our duty towards God, and the other six our duty to man.⁷⁴³

II. *Lex ista post lapsum non desiit esse justitiæ regula perfectissima; quo etiam nomine a Deo est in monte Sinai tradita, tabulis duabus descripta, decem præceptis comprehensa;*⁷⁴⁴ *quorum quatuor prima officium nostrum erga Deum, sex autem reliqua nostrum erga homines officium complectuntur.*⁷⁴⁵

III. Beside this law, commonly called moral, God was pleased to give to the people of Israel, as a Church under age, ceremonial laws, containing several typical ordinances,

III. Præter autem hanc legem, quæ moralis vulgo audit, visum est Deo ut populo Israelitico tanquam Ecclesiæ minorenni leges daret ceremoniales instituta typica multifaria

partly of worship, prefiguring Christ, his graces, actions, sufferings, and benefits;⁷⁴⁶ and partly holding forth divers instructions of moral duties.⁷⁴⁷ All which ceremonial laws are now abrogated under the New Testament.⁷⁴⁸

*continentes; partim de cultu, Christi gratias, actiones, perpassiones ac beneficia præfigurantia;*⁷⁴⁹ *partim autem de moralibus officiis institutiones varias exhibentia.*⁷⁵⁰ *Quæ leges ceremoniales omnes hodie sub novo instrumento sunt abrogatæ.*⁷⁵¹

IV. To them also, as a body politic, he gave sundry judicial laws, which expired together with the state of that people, not obliging any other, now, further than the general equity thereof may require.⁷⁵²

IV. *Iisdem etiam tanquam corpori politico leges multas dedit judiciales, quæ una cum istius populi politeia expirarunt, nullos hodie alios obligantes supra quod generalis et communis earum æquitas postularit.*⁷⁵³

V. The moral law doth forever bind all, as well justified persons as others, to the obedience thereof;⁷⁵⁴ and that not only in regard of the matter contained in it, but also in respect of the duty, it directs and binds them to walk accordingly;⁷⁶² discovering also the sinful pollutions of their nature, hearts, and lives;⁷⁶³ so as, examining themselves thereby, they may come to further conviction of, humiliation for, and hatred against sin;⁷⁶⁴ together with a clearer sight of the need they have of Christ, and the perfection of his obedience.⁷⁶⁵ It is likewise of use to the regenerate, to restrain their corruptions, in that it forbids sin;⁷⁶⁶ and the threatenings of it serve to show what even their sins deserve, and what afflictions in this life they may expect for them, although freed from the curse thereof threatened in the law.⁷⁶⁷ The promises of it, in like manner, show them God's approbation of obedience, and what blessings they may expect upon the performance thereof;⁷⁶⁸ although not as due to them by the law as a covenant of words;⁷⁶⁹ so as a man's doing good, and refraining from evil, because the law encourageth to the one, and deterreth from the other, is no evidence of his being under the law, and not under grace.⁷⁷⁰

VII. Neither are the forementioned uses of the law contrary to the grace of the gospel, but do sweetly comply with it:⁷⁸⁰ the Spirit of Christ subduing and enabling the will of man to do that freely and cheerfully which the will of God, revealed in the law, requireth to be done.⁷⁸¹

VII. Neque interim Legis usus isti iam memorati, Evangelii gratiæ adversantur, sed cum eadem conspirant suaviter,⁷⁸² voluntatem humanam ita subjugante ac imbuate Christi Spiritu, ut idem illud præstare valeat spontanee ac alacriter, quod ab illa exigit voluntas Dei in lege sua revelata.⁷⁸³

Chapter XX. Of Christian Liberty, and Liberty of Conscience

I. The liberty which Christ hath purchased for believers under the gospel consists in their freedom from the guilt of sin, the condemning wrath of God, the curse of the moral law;⁷⁸⁴ and in their being delivered from this present evil world, bondage to Satan, and dominion of sin,⁷⁸⁵ from the evil of afflictions, the sting of death, the victory of the grave, and everlasting damnation;⁷⁸⁶ as also in their free access to God,⁷⁸⁷ and their yielding obedience unto him, not out of slavish fear, but a childlike love and⁷⁸⁸ willing mind.⁷⁸⁹ All which were common also to believers under the law;⁷⁹⁰ but under the New Testament the liberty of Christians is further enlarged in

II. God alone is Lord of the conscience,⁸⁰³ and hath left it free from the doctrines and commandments of men which are in any thing contrary to his Word, or beside it in matters of faith or worship.⁸⁰⁴ So that to believe such doctrines, or to obey such commands⁸⁰⁵ out of conscience, is to betray true liberty of conscience,⁸⁰⁶ and the requiring of⁸⁰⁷ an implicit faith, and an absolute and blind obedience, is to destroy liberty of conscience, and reason also.⁸⁰⁸

II. *Deus solus Dominus est conscientiae;*⁸⁰⁹ *quam certe exemit doctrinis et mandatis hominum, ubi aut verbo ejus adversantur, aut in rebus fidei et cultus quicquam ei superaddunt.*⁸¹⁰ *Unde qui ejusmodi aut doctrinas credunt, aut mandatis obtemperant, quasi ad id ex conscientia teneantur, veram ii conscientiae libertatem produunt.*⁸¹¹ *Qui autem vel fidem implicitam, vel obedientiam absolutam caecamque exigunt, nae illi id agunt, ut cum conscientiae, tum rationis etiam destruant libertatem.*⁸¹²

III. They who, upon pretense of Christian liberty, do practice any sin, or cherish any lust, do thereby destroy the end of Christian liberty; which is, that, being delivered out of the hands of our enemies, we might serve the Lord without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life.⁸¹³

III. *Qui sub praetextu Christianae libertatis, cuivis aut cupiditati indulgent aut peccato assuescunt, eo ipso libertatis Christianae finem corrumpunt; nempe ut e manibus inimicorum nostrorum liberati, Domino in sanctimonia et justitia coram ipso omnibus diebus vitae nostrae absque metu serviamus.*⁸¹⁴

IV. And because the power⁸¹⁵ which God hath ordained, and the liberty which Christ hath purchased, are not intended by God to destroy, but mutually to uphold and preserve one another; they who, upon pretense of Christian liberty, shall oppose any lawful power, or the lawful exercise

Chapter XXI. Of Religious Worship and the Sabbath-day

I. The light of nature showeth that there is a God, who hath lordship and sovereignty over all; is good, and doeth good unto all; and is therefore to be feared, loved, praised, called upon, trusted in, and served with all the heart, and with all the soul, and with all the might.⁸²³ But the acceptable way of worshiping the true God is instituted by himself, and so limited to⁸²⁴ his own revealed will, that he may not be worshiped according to the imaginations and devices of men, or the suggestions of Satan, under any visible representations⁸²⁵ or any other way not prescribed in the Holy Scripture.⁸²⁶

I. *Constat quidem naturae lumine esse Deum qui in universa Primatum obtinet ac absolutum Dominium, eundemque bonum esse ac omnibus beneficum, proindeque toto corde, tota anima, totisque viribus timendum esse et diligendum, laudandum ac invocandum, eique fidendum esse ac serviendum.*⁸²⁷ At rationem verum Deum colendi acceptabilem ipse instituit, itaque voluntate sua revelata definivit, ut coli non debeat secundum imaginationes ac inventa hominum, aut suggestiones Satanæ, sub specie quavis visibili, aut alia

Chapter XXII. Of Lawful Oaths and Vows

I. A lawful oath is a part of religious worship,⁹⁰⁵ wherein, upon just occasion, the person swearing solemnly calleth God to witness what he asserteth or promiseth; and to judge him according to the truth or falsehood of what he sweareth.⁹⁰⁶

I. *Juramentum licitum est pars cultus religiosi,⁹⁰⁷ qua (occasione justa oblata) qui jurat, Deum, de eo quod asserit aut promittit, solenni modo testatur; eundemque appellat se secundum illius quod jurat veritatem aut falsitatem judicaturum.*⁹⁰⁸

II. The name of God only is that

II. Per solum Dei nomen jurare

by which, men ought to swear, and therein it is to be used with all holy fear and reverence;⁹⁰⁹ therefore to swear vainly or rashly by that glorious and dreadful name, or to swear at all by any other thing, is sinful, and to be abhorred.⁹¹⁰ Yet as, in matters of weight and moment, an oath is warranted by the Word of God, under the New Testament, as well as under the Old,⁹¹¹ so a lawful oath, being imposed by lawful authority, in such matters ought to be taken.⁹¹²

*debent homines, quod quidem cum omni timore sancto ac reverentia est inibi usurpandum.*⁹¹³ *Proindeque per nomen illud gloriosum ac tremendum jurare leviter, aut temere, vel etiam omnino jurare per rem aliam quamviscunque, sceleratum est et quam maxime perhorrescendum.*⁹¹⁴ *Veruntamen sicut in rebus majoris ponderis et momenti secundum verbum Dei licitum est jusjurandum non minus quidem sub Novo quam sub Vetere Testamento:*⁹¹⁵ *ita sane jusjurandum licitum, auctoritate legitima si exigatur, non est in rebus ejusmodi declinandum.*⁹¹⁶

III. Whosoever taketh an oath ought duly to consider the weightiness of so solemn an act, and therein to avouch nothing but what he is fully persuaded is the truth.⁹¹⁷ Neither may any man bind himself by oath to any thing but what is good and just, and what he believeth so to be, and what he is able and resolved to perform.⁹¹⁸ Yet it is a sin to refuse an oath touching any thing that is good and just, being imposed by lawful authority.⁹¹⁹

Chapter XXIII. Of the Civil Magistrate

I. God, the Supreme Lord and King of all the world, hath ordained civil magistrates to be under him, over the people, for his own glory and the public good, and to this end hath armed them with the power of the sword, for the defense and encouragement of them that are good, and for the punishment of evil-doers.⁹⁴¹

*I. Supremus totius Mundi Rex ac Dominus Deus, Magistratus Civiles ordinavit qui vices ejus gerant supra populum ad suam ipsius gloriam, ac bonum publicum; in quem finem eosdem armavit potestate gladii, propter bonorum quidem animationem ac tutamen, animadversionem autem in maleficos.*⁹⁴²

II. It is lawful for Christians to accept and execute the office of a magistrate when called thereunto,⁹⁴³ in the managing whereof, as they ought especially to maintain piety, justice, and peace, according to the wholesome laws of each commonwealth,⁹⁴⁴ so, for that end, they may lawfully, now under the New Testament, wage war upon just and necessary occasion.^{945&946}

*II. Christianis, quoties ad id vocantur, Magistratus munus et suscipere licet et exequi;*⁹⁴⁷ *in quo quidem gerendo, ut pietatem præcipue, justitiam, ac pacem secundum salubres cujusque Reipublicæ leges tueri debent,*⁹⁴⁸ *ita quo illum finem consequantur, licitum est iis vel hodie sub Novo Testamento in causis justis ac necessariis bellum gerere.*⁹⁴⁹

III. The civil magistrate may not assume to himself the administration of the Word and Sacraments, or the power of the keys of the kingdom of heaven.⁹⁵⁰ yet he hath authority, and it is his duty to take order, that unity and peace be preserved in the Church, that the truth of God be kept pure and entire, that all blasphemies and heresies be suppressed, all corruptions and abuses in worship and discipline prevented or reformed, and all the ordinances of God duly settled, administered, and observed.⁹⁵¹ For the better effecting whereof he hath power to call synods, to be present at them, and to provide that whatsoever is transacted in them be according to the mind of God.⁹⁵²

The above section is changed in the American revision, and adapted to the separation of Church and State, as follows:

[III. Civil magistrates may not assume to themselves the administration of the Word and Sacraments (2 Chron. xxvi. 18); or the power of the keys of the kingdom of heaven (Matt. xvi. 19; 1 Cor. iv. 1, 2); or, in the least, interfere in matters of faith (John xviii. 36; Mal. ii. 7; Acts v. 29). Yet as nursing fathers, it is the duty of civil magistrates to protect the Church of our common Lord, without giving the preference to any denomination of Christians above the rest, in such a manner that all ecclesiastical persons whatever shall enjoy the full, free, and unquestioned liberty of discharging every part of their sacred functions, without violence or danger (Isa. xlix. 23). And, as Jesus Christ hath appointed a regular government and discipline in his Church, no law of any commonwealth should interfere with, let, or hinder, the due exercise thereof, among the voluntary members of any denomination of Christians, according to their own profession and belief (Psa. cv. 15; Acts xviii. 14–16). It is the duty of civil magistrates to protect the person and good name of all their people, in such an effectual manner as that no person be suffered, either upon pretence of religion or infidelity, to offer any indignity, violence, abuse, or injury to any other person whatsoever: and to take order, that all religious and ecclesiastical assemblies be held without molestation or disturbance (2 Sam. xxiii. 3; 1 Tim. ii. 1; Rom. xiii. 4).]

IV. It is the duty of people⁹⁵⁶ to pray for magistrates,⁹⁵⁷ to honor their persons,⁹⁵⁸ to pay them tribute and other dues,⁹⁵⁹ to obey their lawful commands, and to be subject to their authority, for conscience' sake.⁹⁶⁰ Infidelity or difference in religion doth not make void the magistrate's just and legal authority, nor free the people from their due obedience to him:⁹⁶¹ from which ecclesiastical persons are not exempted;⁹⁶² much less hath the Pope any power or jurisdiction over them in their dominions, or over any of their people; and least of all to deprive them of their dominions or lives, if he shall judge them to be

Chapter XXIV. Of Marriage and Divorce

I. Marriage is to be between one man and one woman: neither is it lawful for any man to have more than one wife, nor for any woman to have more than one husband at the same time.⁹⁷¹

*I. Conjugium inter unum virum ac fæminam unam contrahi debet; neque viro ulli uxores plures, nec ulli fæminæ ultra unum maritum eodem tempore habere licet.*⁹⁷²

II. Marriage was ordained for the mutual help of husband and wife;⁹⁷³ for the increase of mankind with a legitimate issue, and of the Church with an holy seed;⁹⁷⁴ and for preventing of uncleanness.⁹⁷⁵

*II. Conjugium erat institutum, cum propter mariti uxorisque auxilium mutuum,*⁹⁷⁶ *tum propter humani generis prole legitima, Ecclesiæque sancto semine incrementum,*⁹⁷⁷ *tum vero etiam ad impudicitiam declinandam.*⁹⁷⁸

III. It is lawful for all sorts of people to marry who are able with judgment to give their consent.⁹⁷⁹ Yet it is the duty of Christians to marry only in the Lord.⁹⁸⁰ And, therefore, such as profess the true reformed religion should not marry with infidels, Papists, or other idolaters: neither should such as are godly be unequally yoked, by marrying with such as are notoriously wicked in their life, or maintain damnable heresies.⁹⁸¹

Chapter XXV. Of the Church

I. The catholic or universal Church, which is invisible, consists of the whole number of the elect, that have been, are, or shall be gathered into one, under Christ the head thereof; and is the spouse, the body, the fullness of him that filleth all in all.¹⁰⁰¹

*I. Catholica sive Universalis Ecclesia ea quæ est invisibilis constat e toto electorum numero, quotquot fuerunt, sunt, aut erunt unquam in unum collecti, sub Christo ejusdem Capite; estque sponsa, corpus ac plenitudo ejus qui implet omnia in omnibus.*¹⁰⁰²

II. The visible Church, which is also catholic or universal under the gospel (not confined to one nation as before under the law) consists of all those, throughout the world, that profess the true religion,¹⁰⁰³ and of¹⁰⁰⁴ their children;¹⁰⁰⁵ and is the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ,¹⁰⁰⁶ the house and family of God,¹⁰⁰⁷ out of which there is no ordinary possibility of salvation.¹⁰⁰⁸

*II. Ecclesia visibilis (quæ etiam sub Evangelio, Catholica est et universalis, non autem unius gentis finibus, ut pridem sub lege, circumscripta) ex iis omnibus constat, undecunque terrarum sint, qui veram religionem profitentur,¹⁰⁰⁹ una cum eorundem liberis;¹⁰¹⁰ estque Regnum Domini Jesu Christi,¹⁰¹¹ Domus et familla Dei,¹⁰¹² extra quam quidem ordinarie fieri nequit ut quivis salutem consequatur.*¹⁰¹³

III. Unto this catholic visible Church Christ hath given the ministry, oracles, and ordinances of God, for the gathering and perfecting of the saints, in this life, to the end of the world: and doth by his own presence and Spirit, according to his promise, make them effectual thereunto.¹⁰¹⁴

*III. Catholicæ huic Ecclesiæ visibili dedit Christus ministrorum ordinem, oracula, ac instituta Dei ad sanctos usque ad finem mundi in hac vita colligendos simul et perficiendos; in quem finem præsentia sua, spirituque secundum ipsius promissionem, eadem reddit efficacia.*¹⁰¹⁵

IV. This catholic Church hath been sometimes more, sometimes less visible.¹⁰¹⁶ And particular churches, which are members thereof, are more or less pure, according as the doctrine of the gospel is taught and embraced, ordinances administered, and public worship performed more or less purely in them.¹⁰¹⁷

IV. Ecclesia hæc Catholica extitit quandoque magis quandoque minus visibilis.¹⁰¹⁸ Ecclesiæ autem particulares (quæ sunt illius membra) eo magis minusve puræ sunt, qui majori aut minori cum puritate in iis

Chapter XXVI. Of the Communion of Saints

I. All saints that are united to Jesus Christ their head, by his Spirit and by faith, have fellowship with him in his graces, sufferings, death, resurrection, and glory:¹⁰³⁰ and being united to one another in love, they have communion in each other's gifts and graces,¹⁰³¹ and are obliged to the performance of such duties, public and private, as do conduce to their mutual good, both in the inward and outward man.¹⁰³²

*I. Sancti omnes, qui capiti suo Jesu Christo per Spiritum ejus ac per fidem uniuntur, gratiarum ejus, perpassionum, mortis, resurrectionis ac gloriæ ejus habent communionem; atque inde etiam amore conjuncti sibimet invicem mutuam donorum suorum gratiarumque societatem quandam ineunt, ac ad ejusmodi officia præstanda publica et privata obligantur, quæ ad mutuuum eorum bonum conducant, cum quoad internum tum etiam quoad externum hominem.*¹⁰³³¹⁰³⁴¹⁰³⁵

II. Saints, by profession, are bound to maintain an holy fellowship and communion in the worship of God, and in performing such other spiritual services as tend to their mutual edification,¹⁰³⁶ as also in relieving each other in outward things, according to their several abilities and necessities.

Chapter XXVII. Of the Sacraments

I. Sacraments are holy signs and seals of the covenant of grace,¹⁰⁴⁵ immediately instituted by God,¹⁰⁴⁶ to represent Christ and his benefits, and to confirm our interest in him:¹⁰⁴⁷ as also to put a visible difference between those that belong unto the Church and the rest of the world;¹⁰⁴⁸ and solemnly to engage them to the service of God in Christ, according to his Word.¹⁰⁴⁹

III. The grace which is exhibited in or by the sacraments, rightly used, is not conferred by any power in them; neither doth the efficacy of a sacrament depend upon the piety or intention of him that doth administer it,¹⁰⁵⁸ but upon the work of the Spirit,¹⁰⁵⁹ and the word of institution, which contains, together with a precept authorizing the use thereof, a promise of benefit to worthy receivers.¹⁰⁶⁰

II. Elementum externum in hoc Sacramento adhibendum est Aqua; qua baptizari debet admittendus, a ministro Evangelii legitime ad hoc vocato, in nomine Patris et filii et Spiritus Sancti.¹⁰⁸⁵

VI. The efficacy of baptism is not tied to that moment of time wherein it is administered;¹⁰⁹⁸ yet, notwithstanding, by the right use of this ordinance the grace promised is not only offered, but really exhibited and conferred by the Holy Ghost, to such (whether of age or infants) as that grace belongeth unto, according to the counsel of God's own will, in his appointed time.¹⁰⁹⁹

Chapter XXIX. Of the Lord's Supper

I. Our Lord Jesus, in the night wherein he was betrayed, instituted

I. Dominus noster Jesus eadem qua prodebatur nocte instituit corporis

the sacrament of his body and blood, called the Lord's Supper, to be observed in his Church, unto the end of the world, for the perpetual remembrance of the sacrifice of himself in his death, the sealing all benefits thereof unto true believers, their spiritual nourishment and growth in him, their further engagement in, and to all duties which they owe unto him; and to be a bond and pledge of their communion with him, and with each other, as members of his mystical body.¹¹⁰⁴

et sanguinis sui sacramentum, Cœnam Domini quam dicimus, in Ecclesia sua ad finem usque mundi celebrandum, in perpetuam memoriam sacrificii sui ipsius in morte sua oblatis, et ad beneficia istius omnia vere fidelibus obsignandum; in eorum item alimentum ac incrementum in Christo spirituale; quoque ad officia cuncta præstanda, prius quidem illi debita, arctiori adhuc nodo tenerentur; ut vinculum denique ac pignus foret communionis illius quæ iis cum Christo et secum ipsis mutuo, tanquam corporis ipsius mystici membris, intercedit.¹¹⁰⁵

II. In this sacrament Christ is not offered up to his Father, nor any real sacrifice made at all for remission of sins of the quick or dead,¹¹⁰⁶ but only a commemoration of that one offering up of himself, by himself, upon the cross, once for all, and a spiritual oblation of all possible praise unto God for the same;¹¹⁰⁷ so that the Popish sacrifice of the mass, as they call it, is most abominably injurious to Christ's one only sacrifice, the alone propitiation for all the sins of the elect.¹¹⁰⁸

III. The Lord Jesus hath, in this ordinance, appointed his ministers to declare his word of institution to the people, to pray, and bless the elements of bread and wine, and thereby to set them apart from a common to an holy use; and to take and break the bread, to take the cup, and (they communicating also themselves) to give both to the communicants;¹¹¹² but to none who are not then present in the congregation.¹¹¹³

IV. Private masses, or receiving this sacrament by a priest, or any other, alone;¹¹¹⁶ as likewise the denial of the cup to the people;¹¹¹⁷ worshiping the elements, the lifting them up, or carrying them about for adoration, and the reserving them for any pretended religious use, are all contrary to the nature of this sacrament, and to the institution of Christ.¹¹¹⁸

V. The outward elements in this sacrament, duly set apart to the uses ordained by Christ, have such relation to him crucified, as that truly, yet sacramentally only, they are sometimes called by the name of the things they represent, to wit, the body and blood of Christ;¹¹²² albeit, in substance and nature, they still

VI. That doctrine which maintains a change of the substance of bread and wine, into the substance of Christ's body and blood (commonly called transubstantiation) by consecration of a priest, or by any other way, is repugnant, not to Scripture alone, but even to common-sense and reason; overthroweth the nature of the sacrament; and hath been, and is the cause of manifold superstitions, yea, of gross idolatries.¹¹²⁶

VI. *Doctrina illa quæ substantiæ panis ac vini in substantiam corporis et sanguinis Christi conversionem (transubstantiatio vulgo dicitur) sive illam per Sacerdotis consecrationem, sive quomodocunque demum fieri statuit, non scripturæ solum, verum etiam communi omnium sensui ac rationi adversatur, sacramenti naturam evertit, superstitionis multifariæ causa extitit atque etiamnum existit, imo vero et crassissimæ idololatriæ.*¹¹²⁷

VII. Worthy receivers, outwardly partaking of the visible elements in this sacrament,¹¹²⁸ do then also inwardly by faith, really and indeed, yet not carnally and corporally, but spiritually, receive and feed upon Christ crucified, and all benefits of his death: the body and blood of Christ being then not corporally or carnally in, with, or under the bread and wine; yet as really, but spiritually, present to the faith of believers in that ordinance, as the elements themselves are, to their outward senses.¹¹²⁹

VIII. *Homines improbi et ignari externa licet in hoc sacramento percipere possint elementa, rem tamen they receive not the thing signified thereby; but by their unworthy coming thereunto are guilty of the body and blood of the Lord, to their own damnation. Chapter XXX. Of Church Censures

I. The Lord Jesus, as king and head of his Church, hath therein appointed a government in the hand of Church officers, distinct from the civil magistrate.¹¹³⁶

I. *Dominus Jesus quatenus Rex et caput Ecclesiæ suæ constituit in ea regimen, quod in officiariorum Ecclesiasticorum manu foret, distinctum a civili Magistratu.*¹¹³⁷

II. To these officers the keys of the kingdom of heaven are committed, by virtue whereof they have power respectively to retain and remit sins, to shut that kingdom against the impenitent, both by the Word and censures; and to open it unto penitent sinners, by the ministry of the gospel, and by absolution from censures, as occasion shall require.¹¹³⁸

II. *Officiariis hisce claves regni cælorum sunt commissæ, quarum virtute obtinent potestatem peccata vel retinendi vel remittendi pro varia peccantium conditione; impœnitentibus quidem regnum illud tam per verbum quam per censuras occludendi, peccatoribus vero pœnitentibus tam evangelii ministerio quam absolutione a censuris idem aperiendi, prout occasio postulaverit.*¹¹³⁹

III. Church censures are necessary for the reclaiming and gaining of offending brethren; for deterring of others from the¹¹⁴⁰ like offenses; for purging out of that leaven which might infect the whole lump; for vindicating the honor of Christ, and the holy profession of the gospel; and for preventing the wrath of God, which might justly fall upon the Church, if they should suffer his covenant, and the seals thereof, to be profaned by notorious and obstinate offenders.¹¹⁴¹

III. *Omnino necessariæ sunt censuræ Ecclesiasticæ, lucrandis fratribus delinquentibus eisque in viam reducendis, reliquis autem a similibus delictis deterrendis, fermento illi malo, ne totam massam inficiat, expurgando; ad honorem Christi et Sanctam Evangelii professionem vindicandum, ut prævertatur denique ira Dei, quæ merito in Ecclesiam accendi posset, si ipsius fœdus, hujusque sigilla ab insigniter ac pertinaciter delinquentibus impune profanari pateretur.*¹¹⁴²

IV. For the better attaining of these ends, the officers of the Church are to proceed by admonition, suspension from the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper for a season, and by excommunication from the Church, according to the nature of the crime and demerit of the person.¹¹⁴³

IV. *Quo melius autem hosce fines consequantur, procedere debent Ecclesiæ officarii, admonendo, a Sacramento cænæ Dominicæ ad tempus aliquod suspendendo, excommunicando denique ab Ecclesia, pro ratione criminis, atque personæ delinquentis merito.*¹¹⁴⁴

Chapter XXXI. Of Synods and Councils

I. For the better government and further edification of the Church, there ought to be such assemblies as are commonly called synods or councils.¹¹⁴⁵

I. *Quo melius gubernari, ac ulterius ædificari possit Ecclesia, conventus ejusmodi fieri debent, quales vulgo Synodi et Concilia nuncupantur.*¹¹⁴⁶

The American edition here adds the following:

[And it belongeth to the overseers and other rulers of the particular churches, by virtue of their office, and the power which Christ hath given them for edification, and not for destruction, to appoint such assemblies (Acts xv.); and to convene together in them, as often as they shall judge it expedient for the good of the Church (Acts xv. 22, 23, 25).]

II. As magistrates may lawfully call a synod of ministers and other fit persons to consult and advise with about matters of religion;¹¹⁴⁷ so, if magistrates be open enemies to the Church, the ministers of Christ, of themselves, by virtue of their office, or they, with other fit persons, upon delegation from their churches, may meet together in such assemblies.^{1148&1149}

II. *Quemadmodum licitum est Magistratibus Synodum Ministrorum aliorumque qui sunt idonei convocare, quibuscum de religionis rebus deliberent ac consultant.*¹¹⁵⁰ *Ita si Magistratus fuerint Ecclesiæ hostes aperti, licebit Christi ministris a seipsis virtute officii, eisve cum aliis idoneis, accepta prius ab Ecclesiis suis delegatione, in istiusmodi conventibus congregari.*¹¹⁵¹

III. [II.] It belongeth to synods and councils, ministerially, to determine controversies of faith, and cases of conscience; to set down rules and directions for the better ordering of the public worship of God, and government of his Church; to receive complaints in cases of maladministration, and authoritatively to determine the same: which decrees and determinations, if consonant to the Word of God, are to be received with reverence and submission, not only for their agreement with the Word, but also for

Quæ quidem decreta et decisiones, modo verbo Dei consenserint, cum reverentia sunt ac summissione excipienda; Non quidem solum quod verbo Dei sint consentanea, verum etiam gratia potestatis ea constituentis, ut quæ the power whereby they are made, as being an ordinance of God, appointed thereunto in his Word.*¹¹⁵²

*sit ordinatio Dei id ad in verbo suo designata.*¹¹⁵³

IV. [III.] All synods or councils since the apostles' times, whether general or particular, may err, and many have erred; therefore they are not to be made the rule of faith or practice, but to be used as a help in both.¹¹⁵⁴

V. [IV.] Synods and councils are to handle or conclude nothing but that which is ecclesiastical: and are not to intermeddle with civil affairs which concern the commonwealth, unless by way of humble petition in cases extraordinary; or by way of advice for satisfaction of conscience, if they be thereunto required by the civil magistrate.¹¹⁵⁶

*V. Synodi et Concilia id solum quod Ecclesiam spectat tractare debent et concludere; neque civilibus negotiis, quae rem publicam spectant ingerere se debent, nisi humiliter supplicando in casibus, si qui acciderint, extraordinariis; aut consulendo, quoties id ab eis postulat Magistratus civilis, nempe quo conscientiae illius satisfiat.*¹¹⁵⁷

Chapter XXXII. Of the State of Men after Death, and of the Resurrection of the Dead

I. The bodies of men, after death, return to dust, and see corruption;¹¹⁵⁹ but their souls (which neither die nor sleep), having an immortal subsistence, immediately return to God who gave them.¹¹⁶⁰ The souls of the righteous, being then made perfect in holiness, are received into the highest heavens, where they behold the face of God in light and glory, waiting for the full redemption of their bodies:¹¹⁶³ and the souls of the wicked are cast into hell, where they remain in torments and utter darkness, reserved to the judgment of the great day.¹¹⁶⁴ Besides these two places for souls separated from their bodies, the Scripture acknowledgeth none.

II. At the last day, such as are found alive shall not die, but be changed;¹¹⁶⁷ and all the dead shall be raised up with the self-same bodies, and none other, although with different qualities, which shall be united again to their souls forever.¹¹⁶⁸

III. *Injustorum corpora ad dedecus per potentiam Christi suscitabuntur; justorum autem corpora per spiritum ejus ad honorem, fientque hæc conformia corpori ipsius glorioso.*¹¹⁷²

II. The end of God's appointing this day, is for the manifestation of the glory of his mercy in the eternal salvation of the elect;¹¹⁸¹ and of his justice in the damnation of the reprobate, who are wicked and disobedient.¹¹⁸² For then shall the righteous go into everlasting life, and receive that fullness of joy and refreshing which shall come from the presence of the Lord.¹¹⁸³ but the wicked, who know not God, and obey not the gospel of Jesus Christ, shall be cast into eternal torments, and be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power.¹¹⁸⁴

The Westminster Shorter Catechism, A.D. 1647

[This Catechism was prepared by the Westminster Assembly in 1647, and adopted by the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, 1648; by the Presbyterian Synod of New York and Philadelphia, May, 1788: and by nearly all the Calvinistic Presbyterian and Congregational Churches of the English tongue. It was translated into Greek, Hebrew, Arabic, and many other languages, and appeared in innumerable editions. Although little known on the continent of Europe, it is more extensively used than any other Protestant catechism, except perhaps the Small Catechism of Luther and the Heidelberg Catechism. Want of space compels us to omit the Assembly's Larger Catechism, which is easy of access. For the same reason we have omitted the Scripture proofs.

The English original is conformed to the edition of the Presbyterian Board, compared with the London edition of 1658 and other older English and Scotch editions, which present no variations of any account. The Latin translation is from the Cambridge and Edinburgh editions, containing the Confession and both Catechisms, and reprinted in Niemeyer's Appendix.]

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

DECALOGUS.

EXODUS XX.

EXOD. XX.

God spake all these words, saying, I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

Locutus est Deus omnia hæc verba, dicendo; Ego sum Dominus Deus tuus, qui te eduxi e terra Ægypti, e domo servitutis.

I. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

I. Non habebis deos alios coram me.

II. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments.

II. Non facies tibi imaginem quamvis sculptilem, aut similitudinem rei cujusvis quæ est in cælis superne, aut inferius in terris, aut in aquis infra terram; non incurvabis te iis, nec eis servies: siquidem ego Dominus

Deus tuus Deus sum zelotypus, visitans iniquitates patrum in filios ad tertiam usque quartamque progeniem osorum mei, exhibens vero misericordiam ad millenas usque diligentium me ac mandata mea observantium.

III. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

III. Nomen Domini Dei tui inaniter non usurpabis; non enim eum pro insonte habebit Dominus qui nomen ejus inaniter adhibuerit.

IV. Remember the Sabbath-day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son: nor thy daughter, thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates; for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath-day, and hallowed it.

IV. Memineris diem Sabbati ut sanctifices eum; sex diebus operaberis et facies omne opus tuum, septimus vero dies sabbatum est Domini Dei tui, opus in eo nullum facies tu, neque servus tuus, nec ancilla tua, neque jumentum tuum, neque hospes tuus quicumque intra portas tuas commoratur: Nam sex diebus perfecit

Dominus cælum, terramque, mare et quicquid in illis continetur: septimo vero die requievit; quamobrem benedixit Dominus diei Sabbati, eumque sanctificavit.

V. Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

V. Honora patrem tuum ac matrem tuam, ut prolongentur dies tui in terra illa quam tibi largitur Dominus Deus tuus.

VI. Thou shalt not kill.

VI. Non occides.

VII. Thou shalt not commit adultery.

VII. Non mæchaberis.

VIII. Thou shalt not steal.

VIII. Non furaberis.

IX. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

IX. Non eris adversus proximum tuum testis mendax.

X. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor's.

X. Non concupisces proximi tui domum, non concupisces proximi tui uxorem, non servum, non ancillam, non bovem, non asinum neque aliud denique quicquam quod est proximi tui.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

ORATIO DOMINICA.

MATT. VI.

MATT. VI.

Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

Pater noster qui es in cælis, sanctificetur nomen tuum, adveniat regnum tuum, fiat voluntas tua in terris sicut in cælis, panem nostrum quotidianum da nobis hodie, ac remitte nobis debita nostra, sicut nos remittimus debitoribus nostris, et ne nos inducas in tentationem, sed libera nos a malo, quia tuum est regnum, potentia et gloria in secula. Amen.

THE CREED.

SYMBOLUM.

I believe in God the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth; and in Jesus Christ his only Son, our Lord; who¹²¹¹ was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary; suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried; he descended into hell:¹²¹² the third day he rose again from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father almighty; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead. I believe in the Holy Ghost; the holy catholic church; the communion of saints; the forgiveness of sins; the resurrection of the body; and the life everlasting. Amen.

Credo in Deum Patrem omnipotentem, creatorem cœli ac terræ; et in Jesum Christum filium ejus unicum, Dominum nostrum; qui conceptus est e Spiritu sancto, natus ex Maria Virgine; passus sub Pontio Pilato, crucifixus, mortuus et sepultus; descendit ad inferos.¹²¹³ tertio die resurrexit a mortuis: ascendit in cœlum, et sedet ad dextram Dei patris omnipotentis: unde venturus est ad judicandum vivos et mortuos. Credo in Spiritum Sanctum: Sanctam ecclesiam catholicam: Sanctorum communionem: remissionem peccatorum, resurrectionem corporis et vitam æternam. Amen.

The oldest editions of the Westminster Shorter Catechism have the following addendum:

So much of every Question both in the Larger and Shorter Catechism, is repeated in the Answer, as maketh every Answer an entire Proposition, or sentence in itself: to the end the Learner may further improve it upon all occasions, for his increase in knowledge and piety, even out of the course of catechising, as well as in it.

E quæstione qualibet utriusque catechismi repetitum dedimus in responsione quantum responsionem quamlibet reddat propositionem integram, sive sententiam absolutam. Eo nempe consilio ut discenti ulterius utilis esse possit, quoties occasio tulerit, ad cognitionis ac pietatis incrementum, vel extra catechisandi rationem.

And albeit the substance of the doctrine comprised in that Abridgment commonly called, The Apostles' Creed, be fully set forth in each of the Catechisms, so as there is no necessity of inserting the Creed itself, yet it is here annexed, not as though it were composed by the Apostles, or ought to be esteemed Canonical Scripture, as the Ten Commandments, and the Lord's Prayer (much less a Prayer, as ignorant people have been apt to make both it and the Decalogue), but because it is a brief sum of the Christian faith, agreeable to the Word of God, and anciently received in the Churches of Christ.

Et quamvis in alterutro Catechismo substantia doctrinæ in compendia illo {Symbolo apostolico vulgo dicto} comprehensæ plene ac perfecte exhibeatur, adeo quidem ut nulla supersit necessitas symbolum ipsum inserendi: nihilominus tamen hic illud subnectendum esse duximus; non perinde quasi aut ab ipsis Apostolis fuerit concinnatum, aut pariter cum decalogo, ac oratione Dominica pro Scriptura canonica haberi debeat: (nedum certe pro oratione, quo nomine ignara plebecula cum illud tum decalogum in proclivi fuit ut usurparet), verum quod sit fidei Christianæ breve compendium, verbo Dei consentaneum, ac in Ecclesiis Christi antiquitus receptum.
